

Automate Your Direct Spend

Traditionally, direct procurement has been plagued by manual processes and rooted in spreadsheets, faxes, and emails. This leads to a state of variability and uncertainty when it comes to your supply chain. Suffering from poor visibility in your supply chain and the procurement process can potentially cause a halt in manufacturing and machinery, costing organizations millions in labor, expedited shipping costs, and poor customer satisfaction.

An often overlooked aspect of your business is the importance of suppliers. Suppliers impact your entire organization, yet the manual nature of most procurement management makes it difficult to stay on top of past-due or poor-quality materials. By operating outside the ERP and using outdated and disjointed tools, there is no visibility into supplier on-time performance and responsiveness to PO acknowledgments and confirmations. Communication between buyers, suppliers, and stakeholders turns into a moving target.

This is no way to manage both a complex buying system and the collaboration of buyers and suppliers. There are too many opportunities for errors, missed deadlines, and unhappy customers. SourceDay changes all of that.

Elevate Supplier Performance, Improve Collaboration

The simplicity and clarity of SourceDay represents a monumental shift in supplier performance and supply chain efficiency. With seamless integration to your ERP, SourceDay gives you the ability to see and react to changes in real-time from a single source.

SourceDay automates all of the supplier needs to transform the complexities of the manual buying processes, enabling more decisive action at all levels of the business.

Collaboration - Increase collaboration between the buyer and supplier; as opposed to other vendor portals, which are traditionally one-way views for the buyer only.

Visibility - Update data automatically in the ERP and view information in real-time.

Performance - Enhance performance with more accurate information and consistent communication and alerts.

Transformation - Improve productivity and supplier performance, with better internal resource allocation and more accurate data.

SourceDay provides direct procurement automation purpose-built to transform complex buying processes. By integrating with leading ERP systems, it improves supplier performance and increases collaboration between procurement and suppliers.

Automated Purchase Order System

SourceDay's cloud-based purchase order management system extends the power of your ERP so you can effectively manage direct spend and buyer-supplier relationships with only a few clicks. Once the PO is created in the ERP, SourceDay takes over. We expedite purchase order acknowledgments, track due dates, status and changes, and alert your suppliers to important PO changes. All purchase order details and buyer/supplier communications track directly with each purchase order, are updated in real time and immediately fed into your ERP. Confidently find important information quickly – all without a single email, phone call, or spreadsheet.

Supplier Scorecard

SourceDay Supplier Scorecard keeps track of what matters most: supplier price variance, on-time delivery, quality, and responsiveness. The Scorecard ensures ISO-certified companies maintain an in-depth supplier scoring system in order to remain ISO compliant.

Document Control

The SourceDocs module automates sharing and managing all types of documents with your suppliers, ensuring your suppliers have the latest revision of manuals, prints, bill-of-materials, and specifications. Upload the document into SourceDocs, and the updated document is shared with your supplier. Quickly see when a supplier confirms receipt of your document, and easily send reminders to suppliers who are slow to accept.

ASNs

SourceDay enables suppliers to complete a detailed ASN document, save it in our platform, and automatically send it to buyers prior to shipment. SourceDay helps buyers and receiving departments improve on incoming supplier shipments with standardized barcodes and shipping labels. A quick scan of a barcode and receivers instantly know the contents of every box.

Quality Control

SourceDay Quality Control tracks the incoming inspection of materials, placing parts in a quality queue and flagging them for review. If the item(s) fails inspection, the reviewer inputs the reasons into SourceDay and collaborates with the supplier to disposition the material.

Request for Quote

With SourceDay RFQ, you can ditch spreadsheets and automatically send the request for quote to your suppliers to track every step of the way. Gain a unified view of every supplier on your list so you can make an informed decision. Track those who responded with their best pricing and scorecard rating. It's simple to compare offers and choose the suppliers who best fit your requirements.

SourceDay Mobile

SourceDay Mobile is a simple and intuitive smart phone app to manage procurement and purchase orders anywhere at any time. Users will have quicker access to view, acknowledge, and communicate on procurement data where the data is being consumed.

About SourceDay

From day one, SourceDay set out to reset expectations for how businesses approach direct procurement. By shifting the way purchasing and procurement is done, and reinventing its role within organizations, SourceDay helps empower a strategic, more efficient workforce to move beyond non-value-add tasks and work towards larger improvements in productivity and performance.
